The accused pleaded blueberries on which Carpenter claimed to control, by a tussle. C. G. Mason, who is in Stah's clothing store, to obtain them beat Hutchins over the head with a pall.
The "Goodwill Club" of Boston gave a concert at the village Congregational church this Friday evening, and proceeds to be for the next fund. The club consists of the following artists: Soprano, Mrs. Elsie Mae Frost; soprano, Mrs. M. J. Nichols; mezzo, Mrs. J. H. W. Winnie Gaudin Butler; tenor, Walter C. Hobbs; bass, J. B. Scammon; and piano, Mrs. J. B. Scammon. The entertainment will be a rare musical treat for the residents of Norway, and the following readings: Wallace V. Fetter, who was near the village of Norway in the vicinity of Crockett's bridge, was found to be a thoroughly sick and a physician was sent to attend to him. He died in a short time. Mr. Wallace was a soldier of the late war, having served in company 4 of the 1st Maine Volunteer Infantry, and Capt. Harvey Cobb's company 1st Maine Cavalry. He was one of the few soldiers who never drew a pension. He was a native of Norway, N. H., and died at his home in Norway, N. H., on Monday, Nov. 24, G. A. R., who attended the funeral services at the residence of G. A. R. at 3 o'clock. Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

This is a high-contrast, black and white image of a book's binding. The image is oriented vertically, showing the spine and cover of an old book. The binding is heavily worn, with significant damage to the outer layers, particularly along the edges and corners. The spine area shows a dark, textured material, possibly leather or cloth, which is peeling and cracked. The cover material is also visible, showing a similar state of decay. The overall appearance is one of great age and frequent use.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document, likely a page from an old book or manuscript. The left side of the strip is dominated by a dark, heavily textured vertical band, which appears to be the inner edge of a book's binding or a piece of tape. This dark area has a mottled, almost crystalline appearance with some lighter, irregular patches. To the right of this dark band is a much lighter, off-white or cream-colored area. This lighter section is mostly blank but shows signs of age, including faint vertical lines, small dark specks, and a slightly grainy texture. The overall image is oriented vertically, with the dark binding edge on the left and the lighter page area on the right.
